over the last twenty years reenactment has been appropriated by both contemporary artistic production and art theoretical discourse becoming a distinctive strategy to engage with history and memory as a critical act of repetition which is never neutral in reactualizing the past it has established unconventional modes of historicization and narration collecting work by artists scholars curators and museum administrators the volume investigates reenactment s potential for a re activation of layered temporal experiences and its value as an ongoing interpretative and political gesture performed in the present with an eye to the future its contributions discuss the mobilization of archives in the struggle for inclusiveness and cultural revisionism the role of the body in the presentification and rehabilitation of past events and impermanent objects the question of authenticity and originality in artistic practice art history as well as in museum collections and conservation practices from the myth of arcadia through to the twenty first century ideas about sustainability how we imagine better urban environments remain persistently relevant and raise recurring questions how do cities evolve as complex spaces nurturing both urban creativity and the fortuitous art of discovery and by which mechanisms do they foster imagination and innovation while past utopias were conceived in terms of an ideal geometry contemporary exemplary models of urban design seek technological solutions of optimal organisation the venice variations explores venice as a prototypical city that may hold unique answers to the ancient narrative of utopia venice was not the result of a preconceived ideal but the pragmatic outcome of social and economic networks of communication its urban creativity though came to represent the quintessential combination of place and institutions of its time through a discussion of venice and two other works owing their inspiration to this city italo calvino s invisible cities and le corbusier s venice hospital sophia psarra describes venice as a system that starts to resemble a highly probabilistic algorithm that is a structure with a small number of rules capable of producing a large number of variations the rapidly escalating processes of urban development around our big cities share many of the motivations for survival shelter and trade that brought venice into existence rather than seeing these places as problems to be solved we need to understand how urban complexity can evolve as happened from its unprepossessing origins in the marshes of the venetian lagoon to the model city that endured a thousand years this book frees venice from stereotypical representations revealing its generative capacity to inform potential other venices for the future
